

An aerial photograph of a large, rectangular stone ruin complex, likely a castle or fortress, surrounded by green grass and trees. The ruins consist of multiple interconnected rectangular structures with high stone walls. In the center, there is a large, open courtyard area. A prominent feature is a semi-circular structure with three arched openings, possibly a gate or a small chapel. The overall scene is well-maintained and surrounded by lush greenery.

Angebote am Tag des Offenen Denkmals hier klicken